

The Benefits of Hole-by-Hole Score Posting for Golfers

Golf is a game of precision, consistency, and development, and one of the key aspects that allow golfers to track their progress is through an accurate and fair handicap system. By using the hole-by-hole score posting method, golfers will experience several valuable benefits. By posting scores hole-by-hole, golfers can enhance their game, improve their handicap management, and contribute to the integrity of competitive play.

For a complete summary of the benefits to HBH score posting, please refer to the points outlined below:

- 1. Accurate Handicaps: Hole-by-hole posting ensures a more precise handicap by capturing a complete picture of a golfer's performance. Most importantly, it ensures your score is adjusted properly for Net Double Bogey (for more information on Net Double Bogey, click here).
- 2. Personalized Statistics: Posting hole-by-hole allows you to access more personal statistics, such as: the number of pars/birdies/bogeys made, and other optional statistics if you're interested (fairways hit, sand saves, up and downs, greens hit, etc.). This detailed data helps you track your progress throughout the year, giving you a clearer picture of your game with #MyGolfYear.
- 3. Better Tracking of Progress: Posting scores hole-by-hole helps golfers pinpoint areas for improvement, allowing them to track and enhance their game over time.
- 4. Increased Accountability: Hole-by-hole posting encourages honest reporting, reduces errors or misreporting, and promotes integrity in the game.
- 5. Data Contribution for a Better WHS: Accurate hole-by-hole data strengthens the overall handicap system by enabling a more effective review and improvement of the WHS. It also benefits golfers on a national and international level by creating a more reliable database.

The practice of hole-by-hole score posting represents a significant step forward for golfers. It will enhance golfers' accuracy, provide personalized statistics, and help track progress over time. With these benefits, golfers can better manage their game, celebrate milestones, and continue improving.
