

Weyburn Golf Club Announces New Name and Landmark Partnership with the RM of Weyburn No. 67

Weyburn, SK – April 23, 2026 – A new chapter in local recreation and community capacity building begins as the Weyburn Golf Club officially announces its rebranding to The Sixty-Seven, alongside a strategic partnership with the RM of Weyburn No. 67.

This transformation is a testament to the shared vision to strengthen regional identity, enhance community recreation, and position the course to become a premier destination for golf in southeast Saskatchewan.

The new name, The Sixty-Seven, pays tribute to the rich agricultural and municipal heritage of the region, grounding the facility firmly within the RM of Weyburn No. 67. The partnership formalizes a collaborative effort to invest in the long-term sustainability and growth of the course, while supporting broader community priorities. The goal is to elevate the golf course experience while ensuring it remains accessible and a valuable recreational asset within the region.

“This is so much more than a name change – it is a commitment to the future of recreation within our community,” said Krystle Fedoretz, General Manager. “The Sixty-Seven represents pride in where we come from and confidence in where we are going. Partnering with the RM of Weyburn allows us to build something that benefits residents, visitors, and our community.”

Rebranding efforts will roll out over the coming months, including updated signage, marketing materials, and online presence. The course will continue full operations throughout the transition.

On behalf of the RM Council, this collaboration reflects our commitment to investing in an asset that enhances the quality of life within our municipality. The Sixty-Seven will be a source of pride for our residents and a welcoming destination for guests in the heart of the RM of Weyburn

Everyone is encouraged to follow updates and participate in upcoming events celebrating The Sixty-Seven.
